What do you think positively contributes most to our community well-being? 20 responses

- we have a very generous community and it shows.
- Recreation
- Being present with Community Members, especially with our youth, and providing positive activities and events to spread hope
- Having community support and a good healthcare system.
- Amount of outdoor activities, amazing weather, number of excellent clinics, number of social services, forward thinking providers
- The landscape
- Surrounding natural resources, community willingness to help each other
- People are willing to help.
- Community resources and neighbors helping neighbors
- community involvement
- Outdoors
- Groups working together to create solutions to our problems
- City of Chelan sense of community
- feeling like you are part of it!
- Resources
- A sense of belonging and working towards a larger goal.
- Prayers
- Strong schools, well-equipped medical facilities.
- Limiting growth, support of law enforcement
- the spirit of collaboration; identifying common goals; active listening

What do you think hinders our community's potential well-being? 19 responses

- some lack of understanding on the communities part.
- Systems that are difficult to navigate
- focus on the negativity in our community
- Drug abuse especially in our youth and homeless population.
- Lack of coordination amongst providers. Competing amongst each other
- Neglecting interactions with nature, others and ourselves
- Drug usage, gang activity, lack of affordable housing, lack of safe and fun places for people to gather and socialize (young and old)
- Those in need are not willing or able to ask for assistance.
- Lack of understanding regarding mental health
- Political divide; Privileged entitlement; not listening to the needs of our vulnerable population
- lack of resources
- Ideological differences
- The increase in drug use, gang violence, and mental health help. Access to affordable housing. Ingrained racial barriers and fear of diversity.
- Wenatchee dominates
- Inability to access necessary social services and support networks
- Cost of living
- Extreme views on either side of the aisle. It seems there are less and less moderates. Not just politically but in general. Like, I wonder if there are 10 people in a room from Wenatchee, would we be able to see eye to eye on what are the challenges of Wenatchee and how to resolve them. It seems compromise is a dirty word now.
- Increased gang violence, increased homelessness
- Unregulated growth by greedy developers from out of area, allowing crime and drug use to go unchecked.

What do you think positively contributes most to our community well-being?

- Natural environment, beauty of surroundings, recreation access, well connected community, generous community/willing to volunteer and help out, good resources if you know how to find them
- Cultural diversity and inclusion, outdoor recreation, access to resources

What do you think hinders our community's potential well-being?

- Poverty, violence, environmental issues, lack of knowledge of existing resources (system is difficult to navigate)
- Lower income population doesn't have the same level of access to information and resources (and then how to navigate them), complexity of systems hinders access, lack of bandwidth with overwhelmingness of digital world. Barriers: transportation, technology, language
- Housing affordability. Value on "giving help" not on "asking for help". High demand for urgent services which takes away from investment in vital conditions.

Choose one vital condition. If that vital condition improves, which other vital conditions does it make an impact on?

- Meaningful Work & Wealth can improve Humane Housing
- Belonging & Civic Muscle can be a catalyst to improve some of the more long term vital conditions
- Reliable Transportation leads to Basic Needs and Meaningful Work & Wealth
- Lifelong Learning → Belonging & Civic Muscle
  - Note: Belonging is not a substitute for Basic Needs/Housing/Work etc
- Basic needs for health and safety - affects the need urgent services
- Belonging and civic muscle is at the heart of the vital conditions (it affects all the other conditions). When people feel like they belong they are encouraged to work on problems together. Invest in smaller communities like young people, or LGBTQ+
